

When you hit a milestone like Reason's twentieth anniversary, you stop and reflect – about all that's come before and all that's yet to come. But reflecting on and celebrating Reason's history is nothing without acknowledging all of you. You, the Reason community, have made Reason what it is. The music you make inspires us every single day to keep building Reason and to keep helping you make more and better music than you have before.

Just like in music itself, you are our collaborators.

We hope you enjoy digging through this digital goodie bag of sounds and early Reason memories as much as we enjoyed putting it together. Here's to another twenty years of music together!

With sincerest thanks,
The Reason Studios team
